Dear Mr Tillerson,

Thank you for continuing to allow us to provide your health care coverage.

Without a doubt, all Americans have been affected by rising health care costs. Some of these rising costs can be seen in higher costs for in-hospital stays, increases in fees for outpatient services, the requirements for more testing and follow up doctors visits, higher costs for prescription medications, and so on. Even the cost of malpractice insurance contributes to the rising costs we all must pay for health care.

The technological advances made today by the medical industry, such as treatment for heart and liver transplants, are becoming more widely available and those services are costly. The cancer and AIDS treatments, research, and experimental procedures lead to increases in total charges for everyone. As you can see, the increases in medical care costs are the results of a combination of many different components, which are mentioned above.

Although no one likes rate increases, the insurance company must keep pace with these rising costs to be able to pay future claims. Everyone with coverage such as yours will experience an increase. Therefore, your premium will increase to $310.00 on January 26, 1999.

You undoubtedly want to keep your health insurance rates as affordable as possible without sacrificing valuable coverage. To limit the amount of the increase or possibly even lower your premium amount, you may want to consider changing your benefit level.

The following will illustrate what your premium would be at the option(s) noted:

Benefit level:	Plan D	$229.00	Total Billing Amount
Benefit level:	Plan F	$202.00	Total Billing Amount

Dear Mr Tillerson,

Thank you for continuing to allow us to provide your health care coverage.

Without a doubt, all Americans have been affected by rising health care costs. Some of these rising costs can be seen in higher costs for in-hospital stays, increases in fees for outpatient services, the requirements for more testing and follow up doctor visits, higher costs for prescription medications, and so on. Even the cost of malpractice insurance contributes to the rising costs we all must pay for health care.

Technological advances made today by the medical industry, such as treatment for heart and liver transplants, are becoming more widely available and those services are costly. Cancer and AIDS treatments, research, and experimental procedures lead to increases in total charges for everyone. As you can see, the increases in medical care costs are the result of a combination of many different components.

Although no one likes rate increases, the insurance company must keep pace with these rising costs to be able to pay future claims. Everyone with coverage such as yours will experience an increase. Therefore, your billing amount will increase to $628.00 on January 26, 2004.

You undoubtedly want to keep your health insurance rates as affordable as possible without sacrificing valuable coverage. To limit the amount of the increase or possibly even lower your billing amount, you may want to consider changing your benefit level. Any change in your benefit level may effect your out of pocket maximums.

The following will illustrate what your billing would be at the options(s) noted:

Benefit Level:	Plan E	$579.00 Total Amount
Benefit Level:	Plan F	$529.00 Total Amount

Dear Mr. Tillerson:

Thank you for continuing to allow us to provide your health coverage.

Without a doubt, all Americans have been affected by rising health care costs. There are a number of reasons health care costs increase. Doctors are raising fees for outpatient services because patients tend to be highly reimbursed for them. The higher reimbursement was intended to encourage the use of outpatient services which are generally less expensive than hospital care. Expensive medical services such as heart and liver transplants are becoming more widely available. "Experimental procedures", although not covered by insurance, lead to increases in total charges for everyone. There are a number of states with mandated benefits that require insurers to either cover a specific disease, or make coverage available to people who otherwise would have difficulty finding protection. Progress in medicine generally enhances care and is of great value to the public, but tends to cost more.

Although no one likes rate increases, the insurance company must keep pace with these rising costs to be able to pay future claims. Everyone with coverage such as yours will experience an increase. Therefore, your billing amount will increase to $999.00 on 07/26/2005.

You undoubtedly want to keep your health plan rates as affordable as possible without sacrificing valuable coverage. To limit the amount of the increase or possibly even lower your billing amount, you may want to consider your out of pocket maximums.
